GERMAN AIDES ARE DISMISSED

Berlin Asked to Recall Military and Naval Attachés.

THEIR ACTIONS IMPROPER

Ambassador von Bernstorff Was Notified Several Days Ago That Such a Decision Had Been Reached and He at Once Communicated the News to the German Government.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Demand has been made by the United States on Germany for the immediate withdrawal of Captains Boy-Ed and Franz von Papen, the naval and military attachés, respectively, of the German embassy.

Announcement to this effect was made by Secretary of State Lansing, following a meeting of the cabinet, in the following statement: "On account of what this government considers their improper activities in military and naval matters, this government has requested the immediate recall of Captain Boy-Ed and Captain von Papen, as they are no longer acceptable to this government."

The secretary acted with the full approval of President Wilson, who is understood to have determined that the United States shall be rid of foreign officials who make themselves obnoxious by activity harmful to the best interests of the nation.

Although Mr. Lansing declined to discuss the specific reasons for this action it was learned at the state department that it was based on "an accumulation" of improper activities connected with the handling of German military and naval matters in this country.

Separate From Recent Trial.

It was made plain that the conviction of the Hamburg-American line officials in New York on the charge of sending out ships on falsely sworn clearance papers and for the purpose of taking supplies to German warships had practically nothing to do with the decision, although the name of Captain Boy-Ed figured prominently in the trial.

On the contrary, it is said the decision to ask for the recall of the two attachés was reached three days ago and that on the same day the formal demand for the recall was communicated personally by Mr. Lansing to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador.

The delay of three days in making the public announcement, it is explained, was a matter of courtesy to Germany and to prevent the charge being made that the jury trying the warship supply conspiracies in New York had in any way been influenced in reaching a verdict.

Ambassador von Bernstorff notified Berlin by wireless from New York Tuesday night. Friday he conferred with Mr. Lansing again and, although he was able to tell the secretary that the German government had acknowledged receipt of the dispatch, he told the secretary that orders from Germany directing the two officers to return home have not been received.

Much Speculation Results.

Official Washington was speculating on the effect the action might have on public opinion in Germany. Information upon that subject, it was said in high official circles, would be awaited with interest.

It also became known that the department has under consideration the case of Alexander von Nuber, Austro-Hungarian consul general at New York, whose name frequently has been mentioned with those of Boy-Ed and Von Papen in connection with activities which have been frowned upon by the United States government.

It is said authoritatively that it has not been decided just what action, if any, will be taken. It is intimated that the state department also is considering whether any step shall be taken regarding other high officials of foreign embassies in Washington.

Although no explanation is advanced by the state department, as to the reason for taking action at this particular time, when the "improper activities" referred to are understood to have covered a period of more than a year, it is regarded in official and diplomatic circles as significant that on the very day the decision was arrived at and communicated to Count von Bernstorff, the latter and Mr. Lansing had reached a practical deadlock in the negotiations for a final settlement of the Lusitania controversy.

Deadlock in Lusitania Case.

In the conference which they had that day it developed that the ambassador, while willing to pledge Germany to any reasonable expression of deep regret over the loss of American lives on the Lusitania, informed Mr. Lansing that his government could not comply with the American demand for a disavowal of the act as

GERMANY WANTS PEACE INFORMAL SUGGESTIONS MADE

(By United Press)

Rome, Dec. 4.—Germany has already made informal suggestions of peace through the papal consistory, according to reports received here. Cardinal Hartman of Cologne is said to have brought to the Vatican a proposal that Germany evacuate Belgium and northern France and agree to an autonomous government of Poland, if the Vatican makes an effort to bring about peace at this time. Pope Benedict is receiving representatives of all interested powers before completing his allocution he will deliver Monday.

one which was illegal and unwarranted.

On the other hand, he held that even the question of Germany's liability for indemnity was one which should be submitted to The Hague for arbitration.

The complaints against Von Papen and Boy-Ed were accumulative, dating back to the early days of the European war. The case against them is peculiar, not being capable of legal proof. It consisted of an accumulation of suspicious circumstances and conditions which connected the attachés with attempts to violate the neutrality laws of the United States. The accumulation was sufficient to convince the department that the official status of the attachés in the United States should be discontinued. Secretary Lansing is understood to have given consideration to the attempts to supply German warships with coal, provisions and ammunition and, although no absolute proof of the complicity of either of the men in the passport frauds reached the state department; a mass of testimony accumulated to place them under the gravest suspicion.

Safe conduct home for the offending attachés has not yet been requested of the entente allies; but it is said at the state department it probably would be. It is assumed that the attachés will leave the country immediately.

It is pointed out that, while safe conduct for the return of the undesirable attachés could be obtained, it is doubted whether safe conduct could or would be asked for the successors. It being felt that the entente governments would be reluctant to permit officers to come to the United States in safety for the purpose of carrying on the military and naval affairs of Germany.

NOTE—This dispatch is the first intimation that any successor had been considered for General Joffre and comes as a distinct surprise, and the fact that the censor saw fit to pass the message is taken as significant.

Henry Ford Starts With Peace Party

(By United Press)

New York, Dec. 4.—With bands playing and crowds on shore shouting, the Oscar II, the peace ship with the Henry Ford party aboard, headed down the bay at 2:15 this afternoon. The last hours before sailing was crowded with excitement, and great confusion marked the arrival of delegates and luggage at the dock. Ford issued a statement declaring the hope that some good would come of the voyage, and said he wanted to get the peace advocates of all neutral countries together in the hope that their efforts would have some effect on the belligerents. Wm. J. Bryan went aboard just before sailing time and was given a warm welcome by the crowd that packed the pier. The ship will stop at Christiania and Copenhagen to pick up peace delegates and then proceed to The Hague.

The Hamburg-American line was also named as a defendant and fined the nominal sum of $1,000.

RUSSIANS ENTER ROUMANIA

Muscovites Are Said to Be on Their Way to Bulgaria and Will Be Opposed by Germans, Austrians and Turks—Comparative Quiet Prevails on Other Fronts.

London, Dec. 4.—The second phase of the Balkan campaign is developing slowly. It is expected, however, that with the conclusion of the operations against Serbia and the occupation of Monastir the whole Bulgarian army, when the weather permits, will attempt to drive the British and French forces out of Southern Serbia, while the Austrians continue their efforts to overrun Montenegro; and the Germans, with the aid of the Turks and what Bulgarians and Austrians can be spared, turn their attention to the Russians, who again are reported to have entered Roumanian territory on their way to Bulgaria.

A report from France that part of the German army is going to the Gallipoli peninsula to assist the Turks in a great effort to drive the entente allies from the peninsula is hardly credited in military circles here, where it is not believed they can spare the men, guns and ammunition for such a venture. The Turks, it is true, have been displaying more activity recently in the Dardanelles, but this they are believed to have been doing more with ammunition which they have been collecting during the quiet period than with any fresh supplies from Germany.

Rustchuk on the Danube, west of the Roumanian border, in the opinion of well advised persons here, is the point of concentration selected by the Germans, both as a warning to Roumania against joining the entente allies and to meet any Russian advance.

There is conflict in the speculation here regarding the position of Greece.

There have been no important developments on the Russian, Italian or French fronts, although the Italians claim some minor successes in their campaign against the Austrians.

From neither the press nor the public does the talk of ending the war find any encouragement. The daily newspapers and the weekly reviews in discussing the matter reiterate that the war must continue until Germany is defeated.

STILL APPEALING FOR MEN

Lord Derby Calls on All Britons of Military Age.

London, Dec. 4.—In an appeal addressed to "all men of military age in the United Kingdom," Lord Derby, director of recruiting, says the recruiting campaign is coming to an end, and "by Dec. 11 we shall know whether the men of the United Kingdom between the ages of nineteen and forty are prepared to give the army the forces it requires."

The appeal concludes by urging every eligible man to join the army "and show his country that he puts her interests before his own; to show the world, allies, neutrals and enemies alike, that there are hundreds of thousands of her citizens who are ready to fight for her."

The joint labor recruiting committee also has issued an appeal to "the free men of Great Britain" to "justify the faith of the nation in its voluntary system and enroll themselves at once in the great voluntary army, which stands between us and the loss of our rights and liberty."

The case grew out of a contract which J. M. Quinn made with Baker for the sale of the land. Quinn claimed to act for the owner of the land. Mrs. Brundage, who lived in Vancouver, British Columbia, and Quinn
resided at Brainerd in this state. The negotiations between them were conducted wholly by letters and telegrams; and until the telegram of February 10, 1915, hereafter referred to,
were wholly between Quinn and C. W. Brundage, the husband of the owner. By virtue of the law quoted,
the husband cannot make a valid
contract for the sale of his wife's
land either as her agent or otherwise.
Consequently the negotiations
between Quinn and C. W. Brundage were not binding upon Ada M. Brundage except to the extent that she subsequently adopted and confirmed
them.

The syllabus of the case reads as follows:

"1. A husband cannot make a valid contract for the sale of his wife's land either as her agent or otherwise, and a contract made by him is not binding upon her unless she subsequently adopts and confirms it.

2. A real estate agent can make a contract of sale only upon the terms prescribed by his principal; and a contract made by him containing other or different terms is invalid
and unenforceable.

3. Defendants authorized an agent to sell the land in controversy
for cash on or before February 20, 1915. On February 20th, the agent executed to plaintiff a contract for the sale of the land, payment therefor to be made on or before 30 days from that date. Held that such contract was unauthorized and cannot be enforced by plaintiff."

In the opinion it is stated the defendants are husband and wife, and the wife was the owner of a tract of land in Crow Wing county in this state incumbered by two mortgages.
One of the mortgages had been foreclosed and the time to redeem from the foreclosure sale would expire on March 2, 1915.

In September, 1914, negotiations
were entered into between the husband and J. M. Quinn, a real estate agent of Brainerd, for the sale of the land by Quinn subject to the mortgage claims.

On February 16, 1915, defendants sold the land to one Welhel, and he thereafter sold it to the intervenor Spalding. On February 20, 1915, Quinn, as agent of defendants, executed a written contract to plaintiff agreeing to sell and convey the land
to plaintiff."

Defendants at once repudiated this
contract, and plaintiff forthwith
brought this action to enforce specific performance thereof. Spalding

claimed to be the owner of the land intervened and asserted his title thereto. Plaintiff asserted that the sale to Welhel was not consummated
until after he, plaintiff, had purchased the land through Quinn, and that the rights of Welhel and Spalding are subject to his rights under the Quinn contract. The trial court held that plaintiff had no valid contract for the purchase of the land;
that the intervenor was not the owner
thereof; and directed judgment for the intervenor. Plaintiff moved for amended findings or for a new trial, and appealed from the denial of this motion.

Plaintiff bases his claim to the land upon the contract made by Quinn; and the first question that presented itself is whether this contract is binding upon the defendants. If it is not, and cannot be enforced against them, plaintiff has no cause of action, and the disposition of the land made by them is no concern of his. It became necessary, therefore, to consider the authority possessed
by Quinn, and the nature and extent of the obligations he attempted to impose upon the defendants.

The defendants resided in Vancouver, British Columbia, and Quinn
resided at Brainerd in this state. The
negotiations between them were conducted wholly by letters and tele-
grams; and until the telegram of
February 10, 1915, hereafter referred to,
were wholly between Quinn and C. W. Brundage, the husband of the owner. By virtue of the law quoted,
the husband cannot make a valid
contract for the sale of his wife's
land either as her agent or otherwise.
Consequently the negotiations
between Quinn and C. W. Brundage
were not binding upon Ada M. Brundage except to the extent that she subsequently adopted and confirmed
them.

The opinion brings up a consideration of the terms of the contract which Quinn in fact executed, and upon which plaintiff relies to establish his right to a conveyance of the land. The contract expressly provides that it is made, "subject to the owner's approval," and plaintiff admits that Mrs. Brundage repudiated it instead of approving it. The contract acknowledges the receipt of $100 by Quinn as earnest money, and then provides for the payment of $1, 400 and the conveyance of an equity in two lots in Minneapolis, "on or before 30 days after date hereof, or as soon thereafter as a warranty deed conveying a good title to said land is executed."

It is well settled that a real estate agent, or broker, can make no contract for the sale of the land of his principal except upon the terms prescribed by such principal; that without express authority to give credit, or to receive something other than cash, he can sell only for cash; and that any contract made by him which contains terms or provisions other than those prescribed by his principal is not binding upon such principal and cannot be enforced by the purchaser.

By the terms of the contract in question plaintiff was given thirty days in which to pay $1,400 of the purchase price. Quinn had no authority to make such contract; it is not binding on the defendants; and plaintiff has no cause of action.

Comparative Compensation.
"Milton got only a few pounds for
'Paradise Lost.'"

"Indeed!" exclaimed Mr. Penwiggle.
"He could have done better by turning it into a s'ario for the movies."—
Washington Star.

Defendants at once repudiated this
contract, and plaintiff forthwith
brought this action to enforce specific
performance thereof. Spalding

Missionary Operations Have not Been Hindered by the War—Commodities Advance in Price

To the Editor,
Brainerd Daily Dispatch:

My Dear Sir—In accordance with my promises, I am writing you a few lines en route, which I hope may not be without interest. My thoughts often return to Brainerd, especially on days when I am seasick, when the vision of Brainerd's beautiful tree-lined streets and the fragrant and life giving ozone of Minnesota appeal to the imagination like heaven compared to the rolling motion of our vessel, and the fishy smells that float about our corridors. Of course, a man when seasick, cannot be expected to take a sane and wholesome view of life, and on such occasions it may be permitted him to "dream dreams and see visions" of past comforts. But to our tale. Our trip across the continent was as comfortable as could be, and the scenery unsurpassed. Our route was over the Rock Island to Denver, thence by the Denver & Rio Grande to Salt Lake City, and on to San Francisco by the Western Pacific. This route is not the quickest but the scenery compensates the traveler for the extra time necessary.

The Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river in Colorado through which the train winds its way, with walls rising sheer on both sides in height varying from 1700 to 3000 feet, and the dashing, foaming stream ever racing alongside is splendid. In one place the defile is so narrow that the railroad is built on a bridge suspended

THE CORRECT WRITING PAPER

The children of the present day will grow up to recognize Crane's Papers as the social standard of those who demand the best, as did their mothers, grandmothers, and great grandmothers before them.

Those who produce Crane's papers today inherited their ability from their forebears, the artisans of days now past. As rug weaving is a heritage of the Persians, diamond cutting a heritage of the Belgians, so is paper making a heritage of the workmen employed at the Crane Mills in Western Massachusetts.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinary waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

So Get in Now On The Ground Floor, You Can't Loose. DO IT NOW.

"SUGAR BOWL" WAS GUTTED

Flames and Water Did Almost Irreparable Damage to the Beautiful Candy Kitchen

FIRE WAS EARLY IN MORNING

Two-Story Building Owned by F. A. Farrar, Valued at $6,000, Insurance $3,000

Fire believed to have started from a furnace early this morning at about 2 o'clock gutted the two-story frame building of Fred A. Farrar, situated on the northeast corner of Laurel and Sixth streets. The building is valued at approximately $6,000 and the insurance carried was $3,000.

The tenants were the "Sugar Bowl" owned by Wm. Kontos and associates, the finest candy kitchen in Central Minnesota, whose beautiful marble, plate glass and mirrored fixtures valued at over $5,000 and stock were badly damaged by fire and water.

Sleeping on the second floor were John Koukis, an associate of William Kontos, Joe Kontos, Pete Carluccio and another Greek. It was with difficulty that they were awakened and were rescued, the rooms being thick with smoke.

The night was calm. The fire department did good work in confining the blaze and preventing its spread to the restaurant building to the north.

William Kontos, one of the proprietors, is in Duluth, John Koukis, his associate, was up all night during the fire and this morning was too exhausted to be awakened.

Mr. Farrar stated he did not know exactly how badly the building was damaged or the exact extent of his loss. The fire burned up the stairways and the roof is a charred mass.

On the main floor water is dripping down on the fine marble fixtures and show cases in some instances are cracked and smashed.

NORTHWEST PAPER COMPANY ACTIVE

107 Men Employed at the Water-power Site, Preparing for the Installation of Machinery

BIG STEAM SHOVEL IS COMING

Narrow Gauge Track at Water's Edge to Transport Overburden to the Flats Beyond

At the Northwest Paper Co. water-power site 107 men are employed and work has commenced on the big power plant, pulp and paper mills representing an expenditure of $300,000 or more. Two switches have been put in by the Northern Pacific railway, one leading to the mill site and one to the edge of the river bank for the unloading of equipment, etc. The men are preparing ground for the placing of a big steam shovel, concrete mixers, and excavating machinery. A narrow gauge railroad track has been laid near the water's edge and to the flats beyond. Numerous buildings have been laid out on the site, tool house, warehouse, cook house, bunk house, etc. The first meal was served Dec. 1. My partaking of a well-cooked dinner.

The company is advertising for building rock to be used at the dam. An office is now maintained at the works, provided with telephone, stenographer, etc.

Visiting Brainerd Friday were C. I. McNair and W. K. McNair of Cloquet, and H. Oldenburg of Carlton. They were well pleased with the progress made.

Supplies and material are being bought in Brainerd. The Koop Mercantile Co. is furnishing groceries, feed, etc. D. M. Clark & Co. sold mattresses, etc.

The payroll of the company will be a considerable addition to the city's general income from manufacturing industries.

NOTICE—ROCK WANTED

The Northwest Paper Company will pay $4.50 per cord for all building rock (hard heads) that can be delivered in the next few months. Farmers bring in your rock.

DEVELOPMENTS OF WEEK ON RANGE

Ore Prices on the Cuyuna Iron Range Expected to Jump 50¢ to $1 a Ton Next Year

NEW EXPLORATION WORK NOTED

Drilling to Start Soon Just East of Brainerd in Section 29, Township 45, Range 30

Ore prices on the Cuyuna iron range are expected to be from 50 cents to $1 a ton higher next season and accordingly production and development work is being stimulated to a great degree.

Work will soon be commenced by the E. J. Longyear Exploration Co. in drilling on section 29, township 45, range 30, situated almost in the city limits of Brainerd on Oak street in the east end of town. Fee owners include Con O'Brien, Senator George H. Gardner, Wm. McCloskey, Gust Johnson and others. This land is in the neighborhood of the two tracts which the late Judge G. W. Holland gave to the city of Brainerd.

Four miles east of this new tract to be explored is situated the Wilcox mine which will stockpile this winter. A McKay, the superintendent, recently resigned. He was also secretary and treasurer of the Patterson Construction Co. The Longyear Exploration Co. is moving a drill on the Elmer place near Deerwood. Wm. Seafield of Ironton, has moved a drill from the Ringhand place east of Deerwood to Iron Mountain. H. J. Kruse, of Crosby, has drills at work in Deep Lake.

The Baxter Construction company of Superior, Wis., has finished the Soo Line spur to the Cuyuna-Sultana mine and will remove their outfit to Riverton where they have taken a contract. The report that the Northern Pacific railway company had subleased the Thomas Feight property to the Jones & Laughlin Co., one of the biggest independent concerns operating on the Mesaba and other ranges, is denied by Northwestern Improvement Co. men in Brainerd. The property in question is 162 acres lying west of the Pennington pit mine. It is a stripping proposition.

The Thompson open pit mine at Crosby has closed for the winter and engines and steam shovels will be shipped to Indiana. The Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore Co. at Cuyuna will as usual stockpile heavily. This is the pioneer underground mine of the Cuyuna district which has shipped every season since being opened up. The crew now employed numbers 180. The tonnage to be taken out, it is estimated, will run from 150,000 tons to 300,000 tons. A night shift was put on Dec. 1. The force this winter will probably run up to 250 men.

The Rowe pit mine has two shovels working in the pit. The mine, it is reported, will ship approximately 400,000 tons next year. The Pittsburgh Steel Co., of which it is a subsidiary, has contracts on hand to keep them running day and night until next fall.

Actual sinking is now under way at the Rowley mine in Barrows. The electric pump is being used. The shaft has attained a depth of over 40 feet and little water is being encountered.

The Cuyuna Range Power Co. turned on current several days ago and the new electric pump was tried out. With the exception of a few minor adjustments the pump worked very good and is now throwing a large stream of water into the laundries. Several additional men were put on and it is expected the shaft will be going down rapidly from now on. All buildings have been put in good condition and properly heated for the winter, and nothing remains undone to hinder the shaft sinking in the future so far as is known at the present time. According to reports from Supt. Rowley the shaft will be going down at the rate of 5 feet every two or three days, and it is expected ledge will be reached without difficulty in a very short time.

At the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd the second 1,600 gallon electric pump has been installed, but is not in use, pending the arrival of certain switches. All Crosby is excited over the report that the Meacham mine is to open up. This mine has a cement shaft but has never shipped a pound of ore.

For Sale

Eight 50 foot lots in West Brainerd, store building and lot in village of Cuyuna, and 80 acres $\frac{1}{2}$ nw $\frac{1}{4}$ section 34, township 44, range 31 Crow Wing county, mortgaged for \$300. Must be sold to close estate. C. A. ALLBRIGHT, Trustee.

AN OPPPOSITION PARTY BEING CREATED

By J. W. T. Mason, for United Press

An opposition party to criticize the British government's methods of conducting the war is now being created in parliament with the tacit consent of the government itself.

The British parliamentary system is never able to work satisfactorily while there is no strong party in opposition. Before the present coalition government was formed, the conservative opposition failed to play a critical part in parliament because it feared the effect of being charged with lack of patriotism. Since the organization of the coalition cabinet, there has been no formal opposition of any kind in the British national legislature.

Sir Edward Carson, who recently resigned from the cabinet because of the Balkan blunders, is now organizing a national party whose work shall be that of formal opposition in normal times. Associated with the brilliant Irish conservative is Sir Henry Dalziel, strong radical member of the house of commons. The national party, therefore, is not to be partisan organization, but will exist solely as a patriotic body, to spur the government to greater activity.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, who was the government's spokesman in the house of lords, recently declared the ministry would welcome criticism. He suggested the occasional critics, such as Lord Loreburn, Lord Morley, Lord Milner and Lord Courtney, be considered as a group of elder statesmen, after the Japanese model. But the objection to the kind of criticism of the war which now and then breaks out in the house of lords, is that it is not concerted. It is individual rather than representative and loses much force because of that fact.

If Sir Edward Carson can complete the organization of a national party along formal lines, it is certain that an improvement in the British direction of the war will result. It is also certain that parliament will recover the spirit of democratic government which has been thrust aside because of supposed military requirements.

Augustus Thomas, America's leading playwright, wrote "In Missouri," "Alabama," "Arizona," and "Colorado," and if given time, he will very likely write up the whole darned United States and Long Island. But he never wrote anything bigger than "Colorado," in his roll call of states.

This remarkable film presentation, like the spoken play, has all the bigness of that great Western state, and with Hobart Bosworth in a really star part, it is immense. Mr. Bosworth is a college professor who goes to Colorado for his wife's health. A land shark and an army officer sell him worthless land; the Colonel makes love to the invalid wife; irrigation makes the land valuable; the soldier man is exposed, and the strenuous situations are as thick as blackberries in September. The direction, settings, both indoors and out, are up to the Bosworth standard, and the directing shows Norval MacGregor knows the West and how to show it on the screen.
